The College of Agriculture of the Sokoine University of Agriculture is organising a two-day Win-Win Strategic Partnerships Conference and Exhibition from 27 to 28th February 2017 at the Main Campus of the Sokoine University of Agriculture in Morogoro. The theme of the event is “INVESTING IN AGRICULTURE RESEARCH AND INNOVATION CLUSTERS: A PATHWAY TO INDUSTRIALIZATION IN TANZANIA”.

The main objective of this event is to bring together strategic stakeholders of the College of Agriculture to discuss and agree on how they can work together through win-win partnerships to enhance contribution of the agricultural sector to the national vision of an industrialised Tanzania. During the event the College will also have an opportunity to share with participants its capacity, aspirations and challenges while stakeholders will be able to use this platform to present their general and specific research and consultancy needs. The event will also provide an opportunity for interested organisations to promote their products and services under favourable terms and conditions.

About 300 stakeholders are expected to take part in this big event. They will include: representatives of agriculture related ministries, departments and agencies; diplomatic missions; international organisations; suppliers of agricultural inputs and equipment; processors of agricultural products; alumni; NGOs; local authorities; training institutes; and research institutions.
